NEBRASKA STATE NEWS.

Well Up in Cereals.

From the bulletin received by Commissioner Andres recently it is noted that Nebraska stands well up to the top in the list of western cereal producing states. In the state the total number of acres devoted to the guitivation of cereals was 7,961,069, an increase in ten years of more than 4,000,000 acres. The increase in the are of corn lands alone amounted to 3,849,619 acres. Every county in the state increased its acreage during the decade. The average yield of corn per acre is 39.40; barley, 22.06; backwheat, 7.81; oats, 29.16; rye, 13.33; wheat, 13.23. In the production of corn Gage county leads, with 188,370 acres, while Saunders county comes next with 187,189 acres. The other big counties 100.000; a corn acreage of over Lancaster, 171,073; Saline, 134,881; Filmore, 131,029; Clay, 123,390; Cass, 25.879; Hamilton, 121,578; Otoe, 125,080; York, 125.847. The estimated area of Nebraska, available for cultivation is, according to the last report of Secretary Furnas, of the state board of agricult. ure, 24,231,907. The area actually cultivated last year was only about onethird of this amount. State school Apportionment.

State Superintendent Goudy has issued the annual state apportionment of school moneys. From the report it is noted that the entire amount to be apportioned among the several counties is 8319,283,67. Of this amount $111,326 80 is derived from interest on county bonds, $105,247,39 from interest on unpaid principal school lands, $31,889.39 from school land leases, $57,469.40 from state taxes, $13,050.69 from interest on state bonds. The total amount is apportioned among the several counties of the state in proportion to the number of school children in each. There are in the state 333,115 children of school age, and the apportionment gives a fraction over 95 cents to each scholar. Douglass county receives $31,721.82 and Lancaster $17,956.

Nebraska Grand Lodge.

The grand lodge of Nebraska masons met in Omaha on the 16th. A member of the order asked to be reinstated, having previously been expelled for selling intoxicating liquors. The committee on grievances recommended that the petition be not granted, on the ground that the brother had been notified that if he engaged in the sale of liquors his masonic relationship would be endangered. He persisted in the traffic, and it was the committee's unanimous finding that masons could not engage in the sale of liquors and retain their masonic standing. The report was received with applause and adopted without a dissenting vote.

A Dowry Collected By Law.

A curious case came up in the district court at Lincoln. Two years ago Rachel Madowink, a well-to-do Bohemian, had a wayward daughter whom she desired married. Among her acquaintances was Max Coonsky, to whom she offered $2,500 if he would marry Freda. Max was willing, so was the pretty Freda, and a contract was entered into for the payment of the money. The wedding took place, but the dowry was not paid. Max thereupon entered suit. The mother claimed that it was contingent upon the sale of certain property, but the court found for plaintiff.
